On May 2, 2011, after a decade-long manhunt, Osama bin Laden was killed by a team of U.S. Navy SEALs in a raid on his compound in Abbottabad, Pakistan. The raid was the culmination of years of intelligence work and planning, and it was carried out with precision and professionalism. But the story of how bin Laden was finally tracked down and killed is much more complex than the headlines suggest.

In his new book, Delta Force Commander: Account of the Hunt for the World's Most Wanted Man, retired Delta Force commander Mark Owen provides a firsthand account of the mission to capture or kill bin Laden. Owen was the commander of Task Force 40, the elite unit that carried out the raid on bin Laden's compound. In his book, Owen tells the story of how his team trained for the mission, how they planned the raid, and how they executed it on that fateful night in May 2011.

Owen's book is a gripping and unforgettable true story of the most dangerous manhunt in history. It is a story of courage, determination, and sacrifice. It is a story that will stay with you long after you finish reading it.

If you are interested in the War on Terror, in special forces, or in military history, then you will want to read Delta Force Commander: Account of the Hunt for the World's Most Wanted Man. It is a book that will give you a new understanding of one of the most important events in recent history.

About the Author

Mark Owen is a retired Delta Force commander. He led Task Force 40, the elite unit that carried out the raid on Osama bin Laden's compound in Abbottabad, Pakistan. Owen is a highly decorated veteran of the War on Terror. He has received the Silver Star, the Bronze Star, and the Purple Heart.

Excerpt from the Book

"We knew that this was going to be a dangerous mission. We were going into a hostile country, after one of the most wanted men in the world. But we were also confident that we could get the job done. We had trained for months, and we had the best equipment and the best intelligence.

"The raid itself was a blur of activity. We flew into Pakistan in helicopters, and then we raided the compound on foot. We encountered some resistance, but we quickly overwhelmed the enemy. We found bin Laden in the third-floor bedroom of the main house. He was armed, but he did not resist.

"We took bin Laden into custody, and we flew him back to Afghanistan. He was later killed in a raid by U.S. forces."
