Women Empowerment Speech

Good morning everyone to present here. My name is XYZ & the topic for the assessment is Women Empowerment. People coming out of theaters are often seen appreciating the acting skills & amazing cast of the movie. Have you ever seen someone appreciate the costume designer, editor, scriptwriter, or anyone that has worked more than the cast behind the camera? This is what women feel on a daily basis. After taking care of the house, kids & even manage daily chores. They are not appreciated enough in our society. How can we expect to grow in a world where women are not involved in decision-making or given equality. It has become vital to empower our women in society now more than ever. Women empowerment is not just about teaching women or involving women in the decision-making process, women empowerment is about gender equality, accepting their thoughts & viewpoints, appreciating their efforts & decision, letting them make their own life decisions without forcing them. Women's empowerment can not be achieved in a day. It is a long chain of little efforts every day. The next thing you are must be thinking about what we students can do to bring this big change? In your neighboring societies or nearest slums or even the girl child of your house helps you to be a mentor. If those girls are not enrolled in schools you can get them enrolled in your nearest educational facilities & teach them the benefits of education in life, you can also help them by donating books or clothes, you can also provide free tuitions to help them in the studies these are the littlest thing we can do together to help a girl in need. There is no greater gift than education & if we can empower a girl by our efforts we should definitely help & bring a change in the society.

Discover the secrets of master motivators who have the ability to ignite passion and drive in others. Learn from their techniques for connecting with emotions, setting goals, overcoming resistance, and creating a culture of motivation that empowers individuals and teams to achieve extraordinary results.
