The climate crisis is the most pressing issue facing humanity today. The scientific consensus is clear: we are facing a code red situation, and we must act immediately to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and mitigate the devastating impacts of climate change.

Drawing on decades of experience and the latest scientific research, Porritt provides a clear and actionable plan for individuals, communities, businesses, and governments to work together to create a sustainable future.

Key Tenets of the Code Red Revolution

- Recognize the urgency of the climate crisis. The time for denial and inaction has passed. We must recognize the severity of the threat and act with a sense of urgency.

- Reduce greenhouse gas emissions dramatically. This means transitioning to renewable energy sources, improving energy efficiency, and reducing our reliance on fossil fuels.
- Adapt to the impacts of climate change. As the climate changes, we must prepare for the inevitable impacts, such as rising sea levels, extreme weather events, and changes in agriculture.
- Protect and restore ecosystems. Ecosystems, such as forests and oceans, play a vital role in regulating the climate. We must protect and restore these ecosystems to ensure their continued functioning.
- Engage in sustainable living. Our individual actions can make a difference. We can reduce our carbon footprint by making sustainable choices in our daily lives, such as using public transportation, conserving energy, and eating a plant-based diet.
- Educate and inspire others. The climate crisis is a global problem that requires a global solution. We must educate ourselves and others about the science of climate change and inspire them to take action.
- Participate in climate action. There are many ways to get involved in climate action, such as joining local groups, supporting climate-friendly policies, and divesting from fossil fuels.
- Hold governments and businesses accountable. Governments and businesses have a responsibility to take action on climate change. We must hold them accountable for their actions and demand that they prioritize climate solutions.
- Maintain hope and resilience. While the challenge is great, we must not lose hope. By working together, we can create a sustainable future for ourselves and generations to come.
